

Dear Future Foster Parent,

Thank you for expressing an interest in becoming a foster parent for Ascentria Care Alliance's Unaccompanied Refugee Minors Program. Our job is to listen, support and give you strategies to help you succeed as a foster parent. We look forward to working together to achieve that goal.

Ascentria Care Alliance's Refugee Minors Program is in need of loving foster homes. Foster parents are needed for refugee children and unaccompanied minors who have entered the United States prior to their 18th birthday and who have undertaken the journey without a parent or an appropriate caregiver to provide for them. Burma, Afghanistan, Somalia, Democratic Republic of the Congo, Eritrea, Central and South America are a few of the countries and regions from which the refugee children have fled. In the past our foster homes have welcomed some of the "Lost Boys" from the Sudan.

Many of the unaccompanied refugee minor children are victims of abuse and violence and come seeking safety, shelter, education, and a life, which offers respect, dignity and the hope of realizing their potential. The children we work with have experienced trauma, abuse and/or neglect: it is common for them to need assistance from their foster families to work through challenging behaviors and emotional difficulties. Our program provides foster families with around-the-clock back up support and many opportunities for parents to receive training to help them work with the children. We work in partnership with you to make your foster parenting experience the best it can be for you and your foster child.

Prospective parents can be a couple or single, age 21 and over, and must be able to pass a Massachusetts criminal record check (CORI) and be fingerprinted. If you can provide a caring environment for an unaccompanied refugee minor child whose life, language, and cultural experience are very different from your own we are interested in talking to you. Foster parent resources are financially reimbursed for their services. Our staff will provide the needed training and ongoing support (i.e. translators and foster parent support groups, once the youth is placed in the home).

On behalf of our foster minors, we thank you again for your interest in becoming a foster parent.

Sincerely,

Orfa

Description of the Program and the Youth:

Ascentria Care Alliance Unaccompanied Refugee Minors Program (Ascentria URMP) is a contracted agency with the Massachusetts Department of Children and Families (DCF). It provides services, primarily through foster care, to children and adolescents who come to this country as refugees from sociopolitical conflict and oppression and who have been separated from their parents. The program began during the outpouring of Cambodian and Vietnamese refugees, and for years, served mainly Southeast Asians. The population is diverse and includes Southeast Asians, Congolese, Eritreans, Somalis and Central Americans.

It is important to note that these young people are mainly boys, in their mid-teens. They need long-term commitments, since they may remain in the program until they turn 22—provided they stay in school and continue to work toward developing skills in independent living.

There are many rewards in working with this population. These young people have faced multiple losses of family, home and country, and may have been affected by the traumas of war and of their refugee experiences. Most are motivated to succeed in this country and do amazingly well in American schools, even while taught in a foreign language. Many of them may require adjustment to new educational structures. Some have lived on their own for years and have had to adapt to the rules and boundaries of family life, including having someone care for them. The task of each youth is to adapt sufficiently to this country and to survive as an adult, without losing the essence of his/her own ethnic and cultural identity. Foster parents are key in helping them meet these challenges.

Steps to Becoming a Foster Parent

1. INQUIRY—Call the Unaccompanied Refugee Minors Program Recruitment Specialist at 774-243-3062 or email otorres@ascentria.org to express your interest in fostering a refugee minor. You will be required to provide your basic contact information and complete a short questionnaire.
2. APPLICATION—Upon completion of the questionnaire, you will be given a URMP Foster Care Application. Complete the application and return to the Recruitment Specialist via email, fax, or mail. Your application is then assigned to a Family Resource Coordinator who will start the verification process, and will be in touch with you.
3. BACKGROUND CHECK—Background checks (criminal, and state child welfare), reference checks (employment, personal, school, and medical) are completed, and your home is inspected by your Family Resource Coordinator. Your home must meet state-mandated regulations in order to continue the application process.
4. TRAINING—Upon approval of your application, you will be required to attend a state mandated training called MAPP (Massachusetts Approach to Partnerships in Parenting). The MAPP training highlights the many different profiles of children in the foster care system, particularly as it pertains to refugee minors. The MAPP curriculum comprehensively covers key topics such as: culture, communication techniques, mental health, and more.
5. HOME STUDY—Your Family Resource Coordinator will visit with you and your household members in order to get to know your family better. The home study is an opportunity to reflect upon your family's strengths as you consider what type of youth may fit best in your home. Your family resource coordinator is happy to accommodate your schedule—you set the pace for how quickly to proceed through this important step.
6. LICENSING—Once the paperwork, background check, MAPP training, and home study are complete and your family is an appropriate fit for the URM program, a foster care license is issued! Congratulations! The matching process can now begin. In order to match your family to the appropriate foster minor, we ask that you become involved in the matching process.

What are the requirements to be a foster parent?

Any single person, married couple, or unmarried couple who understands or is willing to learn about the impact of trauma, abuse, and neglect on a child can qualify to become a foster parent. These individuals must also meet the following criteria:

- Be at least 21 years old
- Be a legal permanent resident of Massachusetts
- Be a responsible, mature and healthy adult able to meet the needs of a youth
- Have a clean criminal record for the past 5 years with no history of abusing children
- Home needs to meet safety requirements and standards

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

How long does it take to become a foster parent?

That depends on how quickly you can get the paperwork done. It can take from 60 days to 3 months or more.

What are the ages of URM's in need of care?

URMs range in age from 4 to 22. In the state of Massachusetts, at the age of 18, youth are able to sign a voluntary placement agreement and remain in care as long as they continue to pursue their education. The majority of youth are between ages 15 and 17.

How long are URM's in foster care?

There are a lot of factors that contribute to how long a URM remains in a foster home. Our goal is to find permanent homes for these young people and find families committed to working with them through the completion of high school. However, many of our families remain connected for life to their foster children and continue to support them.

Will I be eligible to adopt my URM?

In the past, refugee minors were not eligible for adoption. Recently in an effort to secure the most permanent placements for all children in the foster care, the Office for Refugee Resettlement has begun to allow the adoption of refugee minors. The adoption process for refugee minors follows that of the MA Department of Children and Families adoption process.

Are URM's ever reunited with their families of origin?

URMs often reconnect with their birth families. However, due to immigration requirements, they are rarely able to reunite formally.

What languages do URM's speak?

URMs speak a range of different languages from Lingala to Swahili, and Spanish. All URM's are learning English. Upon first arrival, families must be creative in communicating with URM's.

Can I work full time?

Many families juggle work and family life. This is not a problem.

Do I need to own my own home?

Absolutely not. The only requirement is that your residence must meet safety standards and spatial requirements.

May I choose the gender, race and age of the child I would like to foster?

You and your foster care worker will determine the best possible match for your family which includes consideration for the gender, race and age of the youth.

May I foster more than one URM?

Absolutely! As long as your home meets the requirements, and we determine that you can care for multiple youth. Many URMs come with their siblings; we prefer to keep siblings groups together.

How do I pay the cost associated with caring for a URM?

The URM program contracts with the Department of Children and Family (DCF) of Massachusetts to reimburse you for the expenses of fostering a refugee minor. These expenses include food, clothing, household necessities, and the added cost of an extra person as it impacts utilities costs, transportation, etc. The exact rate is determined by the State and the number of calendar days the child is in your home.

Who pays for the medical/dental/vision/hearing, prescriptions and mental health services for these youth?

Young people in the custody of the State of Massachusetts receive MassHealth insurance—state provided insurance program that covers medical/dental/vision/hearing, prescriptions and mental health services.
